AMENDMENT--YES OR NO?

Proposals for electing council members were made at the College Council meeting last Thursday. The one which might be used next fall is this: The new College Council members would be elected the third week in November and the third week in April each school year. In the fall there would be elected eight new members from the student body. The College Council members who have been elected in the preceding year would stand reelection. In the Spring election there would be eight freshmen elected only. Graduating College Council members will remain active in the Council for the rest of the year.

For this proposal to go into effect, it must be made an amendment to the NMC Constitution.

YEARBOOK DEPENDS ON SUBSCRIPTION SALES

The actual work of editing the yearbook has not yet begun. Much debate throughout the past two weeks, as to whether or not the yearbook should be published, has held up the project. Now that this question is settled, the work of publishing will go full speed.

More students are needed on the staff, both writers and other workers. There will be an open meeting for the yearbook next Tuesday, February 24. All interested persons are welcome. The time and place will be announced on the bulletin board.

COMMUNICATION

Mr. Holland,

I am at the present time the property of Uncle Sam. My rate is Seaman Recruit, but there are other names such as: Busboy, Swabbie and Skinhead. The last is for the hair we don't have.

I am playing on the Barracks Basketball team. We defeated the Old Salts 4 out of 5 games. Definition of Old Salts: "any person or persons that have been in boot training more than five weeks." They got very mad and let loose with the usual sort of vocabulary more commonly used here on the base.

Of course I have to wash my clothes and such small jobs. They keep telling us it builds character.

Of course, we have some characters that need some character. For example, we have the luck to have a couple of Texans in the group. That's all you hear for 24 hours--Texas. They even talk in their sleep. We had a funny thing happen last, or rather a couple of nights ago. One of the Texans got the 12:00 to 2:00 (midnight) watch. The O.D. (Officer of the Deck) happened to come around about that time and saw Tex leaning up against the wall, hands folded across his chest, and head down. The O.D. (figuring this might be the boy he had been looking for every night) slowly moved forward in the Sherlock Holmes style. As soon as he got right in front of him, he prepared to make the usual speech, (up to this point it looked mighty bad for our hero). At this point, however, and also beating the O.D. to the draw: Tex raised his head, looked the O.D. squarely in the eyes and said, "Amen." This word, I might add,

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

QUESTION: What do you think of Traverse City as a college town?

Phil Raney: I think there should be more activities. Some sort of civic center that is devoted to out of town college students.

Lloyd Maynard: There should be more parties and more activities.

Pricilla Copley: I think it's an excellent college town.

Kevin France: Too big for me.

Jane Owen: I think the people are very enthused. NMC will be a good thing for the community and surrounding area.

Joanne Cook: It's in the best location for this part of the country.

Don Shea: I think it's ideal. There are all sorts of natural recreations.

Rosel Satler: It's an ideal place for a college.

Eldon Hancock: A wonderful college town. One of the best.

Bill Bright: I don't think there is enough business for the students who want jobs.

saved a certain Texan from walking the plank.

If you have trouble reading my writing, I have an excuse, I'm writing on my bunk. Well I'll have to draw the line here. Drop me a line and a few words of wisdom. (I need them.)

NMC CREDITS ACCEPTED AT WAYNE U.

In a recent letter to Director Preston Tanis, Gerald Chaney, ex-NMC student, and present Wayne U. student, reports that "student at NMC should have no doubts about their credits transferring.... All of my credits have been fully accepted without loss." A four term course transfers to a semester college as two semester hours rather than two and a fraction, explains Director Tanis.

Gerald Chaney, Jim Lewis, and Robert Paupere, all NMC students, have enrolled at Wayne University for the second semester, which began recently.

METEOROLOGY ENROLLMENT BEGINS

Introduction to Meteorology will start Monday, February 16. It will meet for a total of eleven weeks, including the final examination. However, it will not meet during the third and fourth weeks in March.

Lecture classes will be held Monday, 5-6 p.m. and Thursday, 12 noon to 1. The lab session will meet 7-9 Wednesday evenings.

All students entering for this course are asked to complete enrollment this week.

The book is tentatively priced at two dollars. Subscriptions will go on sale next week, Monday through Wednesday. The minimum down payment is $.50. This sale will serve as an indicator or group interest. The money, of course will be used to pay publishing costs.

Moyer's studios has contracted to photograph graduating students, faculty, and group activities. However, Alex Galligan has already taken many such pictures that will be used to supplement professional shots. Gene Bisson has promised the same type of service also.

Editor Carole Peynor stated that 125 books must be subscribed to in order to continue with present plans.

CAMPUS PROFILE

One of the most familiar sophomore faces seen around the campus is that of brown-haired, blue eyes Joanne Cook.

Joanne, better known as Cookie, was born August 24, 1932 (at Munson hospital) in Traverse City.

Joanne attended Ramsey, a small grade school in Grant township. She then went to Mancelona High and was graduated from there May 25, 1950. In September of the same year she entered Michigan State College. In the fall of '51 she decided to come to NMC. In preparation for going to Central Michigan College to get her BS degree in speech correction, Joanne is taking political science, social science, U.S. history, and conversational French.

Joanne likes to swim. She also enjoys collecting stamps and picture post cards, when asked what the most interesting thing that happened to her was, she replied vaguely, "Oh, the year I spent at Michigan State." Now she's got us wondering what went on!
