SUPREME COURT LEGALIZES ABORTION

Two weeks ago, by a vote of 7-2, the nine Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States interpreted the 14th Amendment to mean that the states could not protect the life of a baby born alive after an abortion. This is a major victory for the pro-choice movement.

SUPPORT FOR ABORTION

The decision was made after a long and heated debate among the Justices. Many of them were concerned about the implications of the decision, but in the end, they believed that the Constitution protected the right to privacy.

COURT RULING

The Court ruled that any laws that make abortion illegal are unconstitutional. This means that women can now seek an abortion without fear of punishment.

IMPACT OF THE RULING

The decision has been met with both celebration and protest. Pro-choice activists are celebrating the victory, while anti-abortion protesters are expressing their disappointment.

FUTURE OF ABORTION

The Supreme Court's decision will likely lead to further debates and legal challenges. However, for now, women can access legal and safe abortions without fear of prosecution.

Letters to the Editor

Dear Sir,

I read with great interest the editorial by J.C. Robertson which was entitled, in part, "The Gnat's Roar". I feel it is filled with many generalizations and misrepresentations, and I should like to correct some of the statements made by the author. I am a resident of the town of a certain size, and I have had the opportunity to observe many of the events which are described in the editorial. I am writing to express my disagreement with some of the points made by the author.

For example, the author states that the town is "a backwoods community". I am sorry, but I must disagree with this statement. In my opinion, the town is a thriving community with a good level of education and a variety of cultural activities. I would like to emphasize the importance of the educational institutions in the town, which provide opportunities for the children of the community.

Additionally, the author mentions that the town has a high unemployment rate. However, I believe that this is due to the nature of the economy in the area, which is based on a few large industries. The town is making efforts to diversify its economy and create more opportunities for employment.

I hope that my views will be taken into consideration, and that the editorial will be revised to reflect a more balanced perspective on the town and its residents.

Sincerely yours,

[Your Name]
NEW T.I. FACILITIES COMPLETED

The new college Technical Center started last spring in Feb., as new classrooms.

The old Cheney Manufacturing research building has been retrofiited on the outside and completely remodeled on the inside. The total cost of the project was $275,000, coming from Federal, State and City Funds.

The 36,000 square feet of space in the building is now occupied by the Industrial Academy, Welding Technology, Machine Shop, Manufacturing Technology, and the Electroniics Laboratory Facility.

With the new Technical Center, the parking space at the center of town is reserved for a new industry, capable of handling as much as 50 employees. This will provide new facilities allowing the Electronic and Technical programs to grow and the Automotive Technology School has been left with much to expand.

$50,000 of the $275,000 was contributed by the State of Ohio, the remainder of the $225,000 was contributed by the City and the Federal Government.

In Oct., the old Cheney building is completed.

In addition to the new classrooms, the school has new offices, faculty rooms, and a large cafeteria.

ATTORNEY GENERAL GIVES LEMON AID

The Attorney General has issued a warning to consumers about lemon aid and lemon law violations.

Reputable dealers and private sellers, try to get a feel for the niceties and conditions of the occasion before you sign up. When you go shopping take a careful look at the car you are interested in and ask all the pertinent questions about the car, the sales person, and the salesperson's qualifications. Make sure you understand what you are getting into. In doing so you are taking an important step to ensure that you are purchasing a good car and not a lemon.

THE CAR TRADE

Your time is money. As long as you can't see the actual car, you may not be sure if it's worth your time to make the purchase. Check out the dealer before you sign the contract. Check the inventory, the service department, and the customer service. Make sure to check the car history and compare it to the history of the last car. The dealer's background may be the key to the quality of the car. It is always best to see the car in person.

FRIDAYS CONSIDER

When you talk about the price of a car, you talk about everything that goes into buying the car, including the car's actual price, all financing charges, and any other add-ons such as insurance, extra charges, and equipment. All of these factors should be considered when making a purchase. If you don't understand all of these factors, you might end up paying more than you should. It is important to know what you are getting into before you make a purchase. If you are not satisfied with the car, you may have the option to return it within a certain period of time. If you are considering a lease, make sure to understand what your obligations are and what your options are in case you need to return the car.

WE LIKE IT A VERY DRY KIND

L. P. says, "Happy Valentine's Day to all of my sweet friends..."
The "Hawks won their final game of the season yesterday by swirling 76-63 against Trinity College. The game, which was played in the First National Bank, was the second straight game the team was in action in the final game of the season. The game was won by the Hawks, led by a strong offense, but the loss of star guard Bob Love in the third quarter was a key factor. Love, who scored 25 points, was forced to sit out the final quarter due to an injury. The game also marks the final game for four regular seniors, who were honored during the game. The Hawks will now turn their attention to the upcoming ACC Tournament, where they hope to make a deep run and increase their chances of earning a spot in the NCAA Tournament. In the meantime, the team will focus on improving their skills and building for the future.
