The Tutoring Center offers student and staff help in most areas of college study. Students are invited to drop by the tutoring center in the evaluation of their studies. Call 932-1138 for information. The tutoring program assists students in organizing their studies better in a group. Students higher in a group may sign up for a tutor, that is, that class. Questions about hours and pay may also be directed to 932-1138.

The Student Government Association is primarily responsible for the representation of the student body. The main record of student officers are housed in the student government office. The officers are elected by the student government. They are responsible for the activities of special groups and clubs and the cultural speaker series and social events. Elections are held during the third week of Fall term.
Outdoors club

Advise: Eric Wildman MSE 1379
Science Bldg, 15A

The ski Club has expanded this year, and has changed its name to NMC Outdoors Club. advise: Eric Wildman introduced the expanded and new change to give students the opportunity to enjoy all of the other outdoor activities available in the Traverse City area.

This year's activities may include hikes in places such as Sleeping Bear Dunes, Mountain biking at L.L. Bean Lake and on the Peninsula, possible camping trips, kayaking and some rock climbing, and of course they will continue to take weekly ski trips this winter. However, according to Wildman, the club's actual activities depend greatly on the initiations of the group and the interest expressed by interested in any outdoor activity.

Transportation will be provided to all events and reduced rate group packages are available for most activities. At the Club’s first meeting of the year, Wednesday, Oct 7 at 7 p.m. in West Hall Green room, fund report for the year and a possible spring break ski trip will be discussed.

Martial arts

NMC AIRDO CLUB
Adviser: Doug Gartner, 947-1404

Often called “the non-violent martial art,” Aikido stresses living in harmony with one’s environment and circumstances. Aikido is an excel lent form of self-defense and a basis for community service. In addition to being an academic or community service idea, the club also sponsors demonstrations, films, weekend trips, and activities to broaden the students’ experience in the art.

TAE KWON DO KARATE CLUB
Adviser: Andy Johnson, 941-4011

The NMC, Tae Kwon Do Karate Club promotes the development of known as a martial art and sport in the Grand To ronto region. There are no membership dues or meetings. Members train and participate in club events, both teams, and tournaments. Most members train in clubs and on an individual basis. The club hosts two Brand open tournaments a year.

A Student Publication

The NMC Magazine is published and distributed free of charge. It is a vehicle for recognizing student accomplishments in the arts. Both literary and artistic works are accepted for publica tion. Students also design and edit the publication. Contributions for the magazine—photographs, poetry, short stories, essays, drawings—may be dropped off in the Communications Building, Room 101. Questions about the magazine may be directed to Rona Mark, Communications Adviser, 942-1181 or 416-492-4328.
