ATHLETIC AWARD BANQUET

TO BE SPONSORED BY PEP CLUB

A Pep Club sponsored Athletic Banquet will be the event of Tuesday, April 27th, at the highschool cafeteria. The entire event will be staged to honor basketball players, cross country runners, and cheer leaders.

The entire student body, their parents, the faculty, and the school board of education is invited. The supper, a pot-luck, will be furnished by students contacted by Club members.

Don Shea will act as master of ceremonies for the evening. Dr. Glen Loomis will be the guest speaker. Awards will be presented by NMC Coach Bernie Wilson.

The dinner will begin at 6:00 p.m., and is the first function of its kind at NMC. It is hoped and expected that it will become an annual affair, but, as Doc Tousley stated, only student cooperation and attendance can determine its success.

The Pep Club will furnish all coffee, etc, for the non-profit banquet, and requests all food donations to be in at the different times noted on the sign on the bulletin board in the main hall.

The 1954-55 editor of the Reporter was named yesterday by Marj Mattingly, current editor, and Jack McChrystal, faculty advisor. The new editor, Sally Case, will begin her new duties with the next issue. For the balance of the spring term she will work in collaboration with Marj Mattingly in order to learn some of the intricacies involved in putting out a paper.

Among other contributions throughout the year, Sally has been the author of the regular fashions column in the Reporter and has assisted in make-up, layout, and production. Miss Case stated when informed of her new position, "this is an honor I hadn't anticipated. I hadn't had time to formulate any special plans concerning next year's paper." Mr. McChrystal said, "I'm sure Miss Case will show the same initiative and ingenuity that Marj Mattingly has shown all year with the result of a continued improvement in the quality of the paper." Marj Mattingly said, "If Sally gets the same cooperation from her staff that she as a reporter gave me, the Reporter will rival the New York Times."

Among the plans for next year is the potentiality of periodically printed issues of the Reporter.

VARSITY NEWS

by Pat Miller

The Athletic department has announced winners of athletic awards for the current school year. The awards consist of jackets for first year lettermen and sweaters for second year letter men who returned to the team this past season. These awards will be presented at the Athletic Banquet on April 27th.

The awards are given this year in recognition of active competition in basketball and cross-country running. Second-year basketball award winners are Chuck Kibby and Red Evans. First year lettermen are Lynn Smith, Bob Wells, Jim Wressel, Royce Nye, Bernie Mikowski, Jerry Johnston, and Pete Rumanos. For Cross Country activity: Owen Sherberneau, Jack Moore, Lynn Smith, Ed Wagner, Bill Miller and Pat Miller. All are first year letter winners with the exception of Bill Miller who lettered in basketball last year.

The standards necessary for the players to receive awards were determined by the coaching staff and athletic board.

All award winners mentioned are now active members of the Varsity Club. With new members the Club now has sixteen members. This new addition will give the group more strength, and enable it to do more in the promotion of school activities.

One of the newest activities of the Club is to organize an intramural softball league. Presently members are rounding up players for the teams. It is hoped that at least five or six teams can be organized and represented. Definite plans have not been drawn up yet. At the next club meeting it is hoped that the league rules and game schedule will be completed at that time. It has already been decided that the teams will be composed of both men and women students. Anyone who does not belong to a team and wishes to join may see Mr. Rajkovich, Varsity Club advisor, or any Club member. They will see that such people are put on a team.

It may be possible to receive physical education credit for participating in the league according to Mr. Rajkovich.

Editors note: Pat has just been assigned by the Varsity Club to write Club news for the Reporter. Your cooperation is requested.

F. T. A. CHAPTER

by Carolyn Svcc.

The FTA Chapter has been planning to attend a Teachers Training School at Mount Pleasant. They will leave Friday, April 30, with the Central highschool chapter.

Educational books and pamphlets were received from the National Education Association. These books will be given a special section in the library and will be available to all students and faculty members.

? ? N M C. ? ? adv.

Well, it looks as though Spring is finally here. (I'm just hoping it won't snow the day this is printed.) With the advent of tennis, baseball, bicycling, and many other sports, whether you are spectator or participant, sport and casual clothes are again beginning to dominate the fashion scene.

Of course, your old stand-by, blue jeans, are just as versatile as ever. They still seem to be appropriate for everything from smelt fishing to a slightly preseason game of tennis. Their style remains pretty much the same, however, so we needn't go into much detail.

Shorts are retaining their popularity. The short-short, cuffed type will be worn as much as ever, although Bermuda shorts are becoming more and more popular. Lots of pedal-pushers will be seen, and that comparatively new innovation in casual clothes, the "toreador pants" are very much in evidence. These are slim and tapered and may lace or button a little below the knee. In fact, all sports clothes have, as usual, a slim, trim, look—as well as being designed for comfort. Skirts are flared or gored for casual wear, and come in the same fabrics and colors as the shorts and slacks.

Sturdy fabrics are used in the construction of most of these styles. Used most are sailcloth, denim, khaki, poplin, and chambray denim.

Colors are brilliant. Most of these styles come in vibrant reds, pinks, and oranges, and intense yellows, greens, and blues. Many have wide, multi-colored stripes, or bright checks or plaids.

All in all, it looks like a bright summer ahead!

COUNCIL NOTES

by

Councilman Henretty

The NMC Council has welcomed its new members—one from the faculty and five from the school body. These members, some having little experience, will build confidence and knowledge during the rest of this school year to become the nucleus of next year's council. The members elected are Nick Rajkovich, Royce Nye, Chuck Schuler, Don Snohr, Bob Wells, and James Bargar.

Dances, bake sales, outdoor activities—the council is right in the midst of it all. We have a heavy schedule to fill and the way it is shaping up, it looks like we will be busy the rest of this term.

First of all, we have two separate dances to get on the road: the annual Spring formal, and the high school mixer dance. The date for the first of these events has not been set, but the mixer dance will take place on April 30 at Central High School gym. The sole purpose of this dance is to acquaint graduating seniors with the life and character of our college. Twenty students will be sent out to distribute invitations among various high schools in the area. The whole works are included in this dance—a dance band, decorations, advertisements, and the like. Because we will only have the opportunity to create a warm relation between the high schools and our college with this type of recreation just once this year, we should all participate and make a good showing.

The bake sale is slated for the 24th of April. The proceeds of this event will go towards the purchase of college awards that will be handed out to individual letter winners.

The annual spring outdoor activity event has been suggested and will probably be given more consideration at the next meeting.

The pep club is organizing an athletic banquet which is to come up soon and which should have the backing of the Entire college.

Inebriate: Whatever is that horrible smell out here?

Doorkeeper: Fresh air, buddy.

"That gin makes my throat smart."
"Rub some on your head."

Critic's column: The new play had a happy ending; we were all glad when it was over.

"I hear those cannibals got the missionary."

"Yes, it was their first taste of religion."

Director to actress in French bathing suit: If you don't show me more in this scene, Miss Devere, we'll have to drop the whole thing.

One of the contestants on Groucho Marx's Quiz Show was a young man named Lee.

"One of the Virginia Lees?" asked Groucho.

"No, I'm from England."

"Oh," said Groucho, "one of the lend Lees."

An Oklahoma judge once stopped a lawyers' wrangle in a murder case with, "Gentlemen, the only issue before this court is: Should the deceased have went?"

A friend of mine had eight children in 11 years, and I believe the first moment she had to center her full attention on one of them came the night 12-year-old Sally tried on her Confirmation dress. "Sally, honey," her mother said, after a long, loving look, "I think you're beautiful, but of course I'm prejudiced."

"Oh Mother," Sally wailed, "not again."

At a dance the young lady had just been introduced to her partner. By way of making conversation, she said, as they waltzed around the ballroom floor: "Who is that terribly ugly man sitting over there?"

Her partner looked at the man she indicated. "Why that's my brother!" he exclaimed. "Oh, you must excuse me," said the lady in embarrassment, and added apologetically: "I really hadn't noticed the resemblance."

"Your pants look rather sad today."

"What do you mean?"

"Sort of depressed."

Why do old maids wear cotton gloves?
I don't know-----why?

'Cause they don't have any kids.

"Why do you have a bridge on your violin?"

"Oh, just to get the music across."

"We're living in a much better neighborhood now."

"So are we."

"Have you moved too?"

"No, we're still living on the street you moved away from."

A certain noble lord being in his early years much addicted to dissipation, his mother advised him to take example by a gentleman, whose food was herbs and his drink water. "What! Madam," said he, "would you have me to imitate a man who eats like a beast and drinks like a fish?"

Sailor: Going my way, babe?

Girl: My dear sir, I'll have you know that a public street corner is no place to speak to a strange girl who lives at 215 Central Park, phone 3409.

You know my old maid aunt lets dust accumulate under the bed because she heard that man is made out of dust.

"PLEASE, SIR...BUST ME, RESTRICT ME...
BUT DON'T HAVE ME TRANSFERRED!"

CORA DREAMA LOT

HI---

Spring is sprung, the grass is rizzed- and that gets me to the latest dream.

Every student at NMC had developed a case of something which calls for sulfur and molasses--namely spring fever. There's something about this peculiar illness which makes everyone do strange, exciting and sometimes drastic things.

For instance---all the kids out Mr. McChrystal's spelling class. Seems he told them to write the first 10 misspelled words 20 times, the second 10 words 10 times, and if anyone was so stupid as to get any more wrong--well, they could just write those 50 times each. When he left the room for a minute the class casually got up and left. (Not intentionally you understand, just 'in the clouds'.)

Bob Wells, Royce Nye, Chuck Kibby, Ron Wood and Red Evans really got a case of the disease. They picked up Mr. Bear-dslee's car, packed it in a shoe box and sent it on a Capital Airlines plane to Pvt. George Comdon in Virginia.

Norma Plank, Barb Boomer and Pat Cole couldn't wait to try out their new swimming suits so they went for a dip in Grand Traverse Bay.

Jim Barger is the man with the money. Being human he too had to do something to make spring spring. So he spent the day in the phone booth calling 3160 all day long. Poor Mrs. Smith sat in the office repeating, "College - College - College" until she was hoarse.

Dickman and Manigold decided to do some work in the biology lab. They took the white mice from their cages and put them in Miss Sherman's desk. When last seen Miss Sherman was running at top speed down the runway.

Keve France, Donny Thompson, Fred Ehma and Jack Moore decided to do something constructive with their pent-up energy. They had a working-bee on Bessie---Bessie being Kathy Greilicks' car (I think it was a car) Freddie got a muffler---from Chris Larson's car and put it on Bessie. Then Kev took the running boards from Pete Creech's puddle-jumper and gave them to Bessie. They stripped DeBuryan's car of its seat covers, heater, windshield wipers, radio, etc., and did B Bessie up in fine style. Jack took the lights off Chum's car and now Bessie can go by night. Then they got some paint, using Jack McChrystal's old 'faithful' as a color chart, and really gave Bessie the wroks! Last of all they siphoned gas from Jim Shillington's car and took Bessie for a ride. She was so dignified and gentle that Kathy decided to change her name to Elizabeth.

As for me---I couldn't eat, I couldn't sleep---I couldn't study. My thoughts kept turning to another thing which comes in spring-----baseball, naturally.

See you in two weeks if I can make the new deadline.

Cora.

SPRING SPORTS AFIELD

RE.

With the coming of spring, many sports awaken. Lloyd Maynard has enrolled in the course known as love, but lets stick to athletics because we have recently discussed sports with our pro.

Spring comes but once a year---a great deduction. Golf, tennis and softball are the main events, but some resort to the less strenuous activities of talking about them. This frequently takes more energy (by both talker and listener) and thus sports participation would probably be easier.

With the new intramural softball league, organized by the Varsity Club, should go sometype of award. It seems only fitting that the name of the team and its members should be recorded on an intramural plaque. How about it? Are you interested.?

THE VOICE OF A STUDENT

If you don't mind old girl, I have a few things I would like to get off my chest. Everything's going wrong, and it's all your fault. I think the newspaper should take a more personal interest in student affairs. This morning I got out of bed and it was snowing. If that wouldn't make a preacher swear, what would? Your despicable newspaper gave no warning, thereby disrupting my emotions no end. I reached into my pocket this noon for a dime. All that turned up was a key, a paper clip and a rubber band. Your scandal sheet you call a newspaper lies at the bottom of this. I was selling copies of your dirty ink blotter to unemployed transients until they found the quality of the paper was inadequate for any practical purpose. This caused retaliation upon me, in money and blood. While reposing in the hospital, do I receive flowers? No, I find copies of the Northwestern Michigan Rabble Reusing which injures the feelings of virtuous young men like myself.

I want action. I want to see things done. I wouldn't call the Newspaper staff fools or imbeciles because you can't qualify. If you would do something nice like commit mass suicide, you could possibly redeem yourselves.

All in all though, I say, don't get discouraged if we must live with this thing you call a paper, we'll make the most of it. In spite of all you can do to upset my emotions, spoil my social standing or destroy my morals, Everything Is Gonna Be All Right.

NEW GAME

Three guys rent a hotel room and each one brings a quart of bonded Screech with him. They sit and drink for one hour. Then one of them gets up and leaves. The other two have to guess which one left.

WHAT IMPROVEMENTS DO YOU FEEL COULD AND SHOULD BE MADE IN THE REPORTER?

Terry Stack: I feel there is room for many improvements. I like the sports column and follow-up columns on school functions, but I do not care for the feature columns; they appear to be measures to only take up space.

Audrey O'Brien: I feel that if the students working on the paper would cooperate more closely the paper would improve from within. The students too, should show more interest which in turn would be encouraging.

Mary Jane Allgaier: The Reporter genuinely needs enlivening—more interesting and more varied features and reports. Such improvements can be made only if there is more cooperation between staff members and more interest on the part of the student body. If the students who are so adept at criticizing the Reporter would instead offer their talents to its compilation, the paper would be very highly successful.

Janet Cook: I think for the size of the college, the Reporter itself, and the staff, the paper appears in all respects to be a satisfactory college paper.

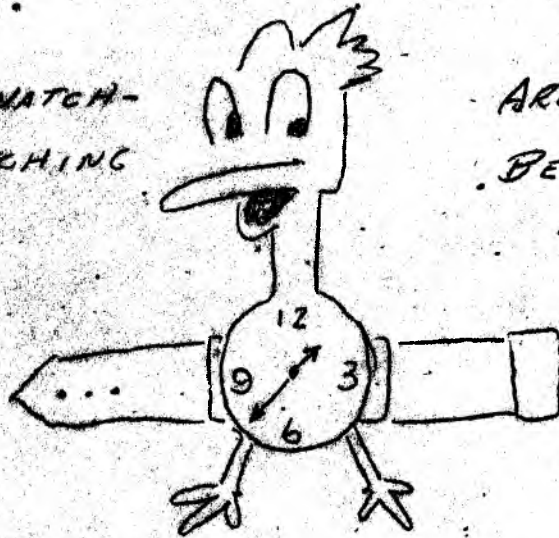

Pat Brandow: To have a well-balanced paper you must have the cooperation of all the members working on the paper, thus assignments should be handed in on time. The material too, should be more interesting and accurate. With these and other improvements the paper, in my opinion, would be better received and more thoroughly read.

YOUR CONSTITUTION

Well now that all the advertisements of the council elections are over and the Ins have been chosen from the Outs who want to be the Ins, and the new Ins are with the old Ins, and the Outs are done choosing who will be the Ins from within the Outs and the Ins are deciding what the Ins will do as their duty to the Outs who have put them in...uhew!! (Clear, is it not??) I can now take a look at the CONSTITUTION OF THE NORTHWESTERN MICHIGAN COLLEGE BODY. I presume that a rather liberal interpretation is taken of some of the articles and their sections. Observe the following:

Article V, Section 3. ----A majority of those present shall be necessary to carry a motion in the Council. However in the event that there are only two Councilmen in school at the time, a unanimous vote is needed to carry a motion.

Section 2. ----A majority of members of the College Council in regular attendance at Northwestern Michigan College shall constitute a quorum.

Can two members make a decision representing the whole Council? According to one established member, No. and Yes. They can only if there are two members left on the Council, the others having left school. What happens if there are three members left? Is a unanimous decision necessary or is a majority vote necessary? If a majority vote is necessary two will still make the decision. Will three do what two could do or will three do what nine or six could do?

Ah yes, well shall we get back to the Ins and Outs? DS

At a Salvation Army mission a woman preacher was telling a story of Jonah and the whale. A dissenter in the audience stood up and said,

"Do you really believe that a man loved in the belly of a whale?"
She; "I do,"
He: "How can you be sure?"
She: "When I go to heaven I'll ask him."
He: "What if he isn't there?"
She: "Then you can ask him,"

E D I T O R I A L

Two big events take place next week. Though it should hardly seem necessary to appeal for support for these events, we herewith do so.

The PeP Club Athletic Awards Banquet on Tuesday with a fitting tribute to those students who have so diligently and successfully inaugurated the first athletic year at NMC. Awards will be given, brief talks will be delivered and an enjoyable evening should be had by all!

The second important event is the dance for area high school seniors. Certainly all NMC students should be there and even more important they should strive to enable the guests to enjoy themselves.

The Jesters will present their skit and there will be real live dance music.

So let us add at this time our own statement of "Dont Be a Gymph! Be at Both!"
